

MANIFESTO

COLLEGIUM OF PATRONS OF TRUST AND JUSTICE OF SAINT JOHN OF NEPOMUK

Motto

“Where trust is protected, justice can truly serve mankind.”

Manifesto of the Collegium of Patrons of Trust and Justice of Saint John of Nepomuk

Trust is one of the most precious values on which human society rests. Without trust, there can be no justice, no freedom, and no genuine partnership between people.

Saint John of Nepomuk became a symbol of fidelity to conscience, of the protection of human dignity, of discretion, and of the courage to preserve the truth even at the cost of the highest sacrifice. His legacy transcends the boundaries of time, nations and professions.

The Collegium of Patrons of Trust and Justice of Saint John of Nepomuk is founded as a community of individuals who wish to lend their name, experience and authority to upholding the values of trust, justice, responsibility, integrity and service to others.

Membership in the Collegium is neither an honour nor a social title. It is an expression of personal conviction that trust is the foundation of every just society, and that each of us bears responsibility for its protection.

The Collegium brings together representatives of the legal professions, public life, academia, business, the churches, culture and civil society. What unites them is not a shared opinion, but shared values.

The mission of the Collegium is to:

- protect and advance the values of trust, justice and human dignity
- support dialogue, mutual respect and social responsibility
- serve as a moral foundation for projects that carry the legacy of Saint John of Nepomuk
- inspire future generations toward honesty, service and civic courage
- contribute to building a society founded on trust and mutual respect

The Collegium believes that true authority does not derive from power or position, but from a person's character.

By joining the Collegium, its members align themselves with the legacy of Saint John of Nepomuk and express their willingness to uphold the values that underpin a free, just and humane society.

Trust is a commitment. Justice is a service. The legacy of Saint John of Nepomuk is an inspiration.
